CUIDADO EN EL HOGAR Y ASISTENCIA A LARGO PLAZO

Últimamente, el cuidado en el hogar ha surgido como una opción apreciada en lugar de la hospitalización. Aunque la intensidad del tratamiento requiere es la que determina si el paciente puede quedarse o no en la casa, no cabe la menor duda de que hay muchos beneficios en recibir asistencia en el hogar. El acceso a agencias se puede lograr a través de la referencia de un médico. Cualquiera de estas agencias le prodrá informar sobre el procedimiento que se debe seguir para recibir una lista de todos los servicios que proveen. La asistencia a largo plazo, o en otras palabras, los asilos para enfermos son residencias donde se recibe asistencia durante las 24 horas por parte de personal capacitado, se puede usar como una residencia convaleciente temporal o una residencia permanente de largo plazo.

ENVEJECIMIENTO Y VIH

Más de 78,000 personas de 50 años o más viven con SIDA en los Estados Unidos y este número está creciendo rápidamente. Mientras muchas personas no consideran la edad de 50 como "vieja," esta edad se está usando con más frecuencia para mantener estadísticas sobre las "personas mayores" con VIH y SIDA.

HOSPICIOS

Este tipo de cuidados pueden ser proveídos en un hospital, en un lugar que provea las comodidades de un medio-ambiente hogareño. Algunas organizaciones proveen los servicios del hospicio en su casa si eso es lo que desea. Los servicios que presta el equipo de médicos, enfermeros, trabajadores sociales y religiosos, están de acuerdo con la filosofía de lo que es "hospicio":

- El dar una buena calidad de vida a través del control del dolor.
- El prestar asistencia para que la muerte sea lo más natural y pacífica posible.
- Dar consejo y apoyo a la familia en duelo.
- Motivando a sus seres queridos, esposo, familia o amigos a participar del cuidado de su salud.
- Evitar medidas agresivas, dolorosas o difíciles para prolongar la vida.
- El proveer una guía espiritual y explorar temas relacionados con la muerte si fuera necesario.

Las siguientes agencias pueden asistirle en la exploración de esta filosofía y las opciones relacionadas con la misma. Nota: Algunas organizaciones sirven afuera de la area que están listados en esta sección.

HOSPITALES

Si usted tiene un médico principal, es posible que quiera hacerse ver con el hospital al que esté/á afiliado. Es recomendable que averigüe cuáles son los hospitales afiliados a su compañía de seguro médico, de manera que si acude a uno de ellos, ya usted sabe que el costo será menor. Muchas personas que son VIH positivas no tienen seguro médico y deben buscar asistencia médica en los hospitales públicos, lo cual limita las posibilidades de elección. También es recomendable que hable con otras personas que han estado hospitalizados sobre sus experiencias al respecto. Para muchas personas, elegir el hospital correcto es tan importante como elegir el médico correcto.
